Big Price for Saddlers.

One of the most important transactions that has taken place in the saddle horse world in several years was that on Wednesday when James L. Gay, of the firm of Gay Bros., located at Pisgah, Woodford county, sold his handsome four-year-old five-gaited horse, Kentucky's Choice, to J. C. Campbell, a wealthy insurance man, of Columbus, O., for a price approximately $6,000.

Mr. Campbell is a saddle horse fancier and always likes to own a few good ones for his own pleasure. When he opened negotiations for Kentucky's Choice he told Mr. Gay that he had no more real use for him than for an elephant, but that he had seen the horse at Winchester Tuesday, where he is under the care of Will Shropshire, and had taken such a fancy to him as to want to own him. Mr. Gay had previously declined several offers of $5,000, but finally acceded to Mr. Campbell's proposition on condition that the horse shall remain here until after the show season, and shall be returned to Mr. Gay's place to do stud service next year.

Kentucky's Choice is entered for the big $1,000 Saddle Stake at the Blue Grass Fair and will be seen at other important horse shows before going to his new owner. He is a black four-year-old horse by My Own Kentucky, dam Little Alice, and is conceded by all who have seen him to be one of the greatest saddle horses ever bred in Kentucky. Mr. Gay has owned him only a few months, having bought him for $3,500 in the Western part of the State.

Citizens Stop Race Meeting.

The proposed twenty-one days' race meeting, which was to have opened yesterday at Paducah, was called off Wednesday afternoon as a committee of citizens had engaged lawyers to prosecute the promoters. Efforts to change the attitude of the committee proved futile. A large number of racing men and several car loads of horses had arrived there. Harry White and Mark Moore, the promoters, who suffered heavy expense, are sorely disappointed.

Mass Meeting.

There will be a big mass meeting held at the courthouse in this city under the auspices of the Paris Commercial Club, on Saturday, July 17, at 1:30 p. m., in the interest of good roads and taxation commissioners. Addresses will be made by some of the most able and best informed men in the State on the above subjects. Double taxation and other important questions will be answered and discussed. A large attendance is desired and expected at this meeting. Let the people see by your presence that Bourbon is greatly interested in these most essential and important questions that are now agitating the public throughout the country. Everybody cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Vacancies at State University.

There are two vacancies from Bourbon county at State University in Lexington, which will be filled by County Superintendent of Schools F. L. McChesney upon competitive examination July 16 and 17, the dates set for the examination of white teachers for county certificates.

Booth's Captor Run Over.

Judge Everton J. Conger, who led the detail of soldiers that captured J. Wilkes Booth after the assassination of President Lincoln, was probably fatally injured yesterday by being run over by an automobile. Judge Conger had started across the race track at the fair grounds, at Delton, Mont., and when about half way across the automobile struck him, passing over his shoulder and head.
